If you're like most people, you probably have a specific financial goal in mind. Maybe you want to make enough money to buy a new home, retire early, or send your kids to college. Whatever your goal may be, it's important to have a clear target in mind.

Once you know how much money you want to make, you can start to develop a sales plan. Your sales plan should outline your target market, your marketing strategies, and your sales goals. It should also include a timeline for achieving your goals.

Now, let's get into the sales technique that I promised you. This technique is called the "75-Minute Sales Pitch." It's a simple, yet powerful way to increase your sales by focusing on your customer's needs.

The 75-Minute Sales Pitch is divided into three parts:

1. The
2. The Body
3. The Close

The

The is where you introduce yourself and your company. You should also take this opportunity to learn more about your customer's needs.

Here are some tips for giving a great :

- Be friendly and approachable.
- Make eye contact with your customer.

- Speak clearly and confidently.
- Listen to your customer's needs.

The Body

The body of your sales pitch is where you present your product or service. You should focus on highlighting the benefits of your product or service and how it can meet your customer's needs.

Here are some tips for giving a great body:

- Use strong verbs.
- Provide specific examples.
- Use testimonials from satisfied customers.
- Answer your customer's questions.

The Close

The close is where you ask your customer for the sale. You should be confident and persuasive, but you should also be respectful of your customer's decision.

Here are some tips for giving a great close:

- Summarize the benefits of your product or service.
- Ask for the sale.
- Be prepared to answer any final questions.

- Thank your customer for their time.

Now that you know the 75-Minute Sales Pitch, it's time to put it into practice. The next time you have a sales meeting, follow the steps outlined above and see how much more money you can make.

I guarantee that if you use the 75-Minute Sales Pitch, you will sell more of your products or services than you ever have before.

So what are you waiting for? Start using the 75-Minute Sales Pitch today and watch your sales soar!

Additional Tips For Increasing Your Sales

In addition to using the 75-Minute Sales Pitch, there are a number of other things you can do to increase your sales:

- Set realistic sales goals. Don't try to sell too much too soon. Start with a small goal and gradually increase it as you become more successful.
- Target the right market. Not everyone is going to be interested in your product or service. Focus on targeting people who are likely to be interested in what you have to offer.
- Use effective marketing strategies. There are a number of different marketing strategies that you can use to reach your target market. Experiment with different strategies to see what works best for you.
- Provide excellent customer service. Your customers are your most valuable asset. Make sure you treat them well and provide them with the best possible service.

By following these tips, you can increase your sales and achieve your financial goals.

So what are you waiting for? Start selling more of your products or services today!
