One day, Toby was hopping through the forest when he came across a group of foxes. The foxes were hungry, and they chased Toby up a tree. Toby was scared, but he managed to climb to the top of the tree and hide among the branches.

The foxes waited at the bottom of the tree for hours, but Toby didn't come down. Finally, the foxes gave up and went away.

Toby was relieved, but he was also tired and hungry. He climbed down the tree and started to look for food.

Toby found a patch of berries, and he ate until he was full. Then, he found a soft patch of grass and took a nap.

When Toby woke up, he was feeling much better. He started to hop through the forest again, and he soon came across a group of rabbits.

The rabbits were playing, and Toby joined in. He hopped and skipped with the other rabbits, and he had a lot of fun.

Toby played with the rabbits for hours, and then he started to get tired. He said goodbye to the rabbits and started to hop back home.

As Toby was hopping through the forest, he saw a group of owls. The owls were sitting on a branch, and they were watching Toby.

Toby was scared of the owls, but he didn't know what to do. He stood still and waited to see what the owls would do.

The owls didn't move. They just stared at Toby with their big, yellow eyes.

Toby started to get nervous. He took a step back, but the owls didn't move.

Toby took another step back, and the owls still didn't move.

Toby was about to turn and run when one of the owls hooted.

Toby jumped in surprise. He looked at the owls, and he saw that they were smiling.

The owls flew down from the branch and landed in front of Toby.

The owls told Toby that they were his friends. They said that they had been watching him for a long time, and they knew that he was a good rabbit.

The owls said that they wanted to help Toby on his adventures. They said that they would protect him from danger and help him find food.

Toby was so happy. He thanked the owls for their help, and he promised to be their friend.

Toby and the owls became best friends. They went on many adventures together, and they had many wonderful experiences.

One day, Toby and the owls were walking through the forest when they came across a group of wolves. The wolves were hungry, and they were looking for food.

The wolves saw Toby and the owls, and they started to chase them.

Toby and the owls ran as fast as they could, but the wolves were faster.

The wolves were about to catch Toby and the owls when the owls started to fly.

The wolves couldn't catch the owls, and they gave up and went away.

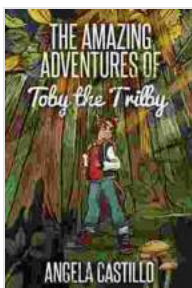

Toby and the owls were safe. They thanked the owls for their help, and they promised to be their friends forever.

Toby and the owls continued to go on many adventures together. They had many wonderful experiences, and they made many new friends.

Toby the Trilby was a brave and adventurous rabbit. He had many wonderful adventures, and he made many friends along the way.

Toby's story is a reminder that we should all embrace our curiosity and go on adventures of our own.

We may not always know what lies ahead, but we should never be afraid to explore.
